> Complaint in the Action.

Eugene Avery has brought suit against the Hawaiian Gazette company for $20,000 for libel, as predicted in he Republican of August 9th. On August 7th, while Mr. Avery was on the Australia awaiting her departure for San Francisco, he was unceremoniously arrested on the charge of embezzlement, sworn to by W. C. King. On the 8th of August he was tried in & ELECTRIC CO. the police court and honorably acquitted, it being conclusively shown that Have everything in readi- Avery was a partner of King in an ad-

"Taken Off the Australia. "Collector for King Brothers and Former Southwell Singer a Defaulter

"Eugene Avery, collector for King Brothers, the Hotel street photographers, was arrested yesterday afternoon as he was about to sail on the Australia for the mainland with $72 of King P. O. Box 600 Brothers' funds.. A police officer served the warrant upon the absconding collector while the latter was in hiding in the bow steerage of the vessel, with a telescope value near by in which most of his belongings were packed for hasty flight.

"Avery came to Honolulu with the Sonthwell Opera company and played for some time at the Orpheum theater until that organization departed for other scenes of conquest. Avery was left behind and his financial status was not of the best when the rest of the company waved him a last good bye. W. H. King was applied to for work and after satisfying himself as to the ability of the man he engaged him to assist in the general office work and collecting outstanding bills. About two weeks ago Avery asked Mr. King to advance him some money on his return ticket to San Francisco, but this Mr. King refused to do. Avery lived at the Orpheum hotel, but times were not prosperous with him. Yesterday Mr. King had an inkling that his collector was about to resign his position without the formality of telling Mr. King about it. King came to believe that Avery intended his resignation should come to light after the Australia was far out at sea. "Yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock Mr. King sent a friend of Avery's to the latter's room in the hotel and there found his trunk packed and strapped ready for the baggageman. Then the same friend was sent to Avery in the store and asked for a settlement of his accounts. He has been collecting many bills since the first of the month, but his returns were unsatisfactory to the proprietors. Avery said he had nothing to turn over at that time and did not have a 'bean' of the company's money. "Nevertheless Mr. King's suspicions became aroused and a warrant of arrest was sworn out charging Avery with being guilty of 'violating section 157 of the Penal Laws during one month past, to and including the 7th day of August, 1900, and having in his All accounts must be closed up by keeping and possession certain moneys belonging to King Brothers of the value of $72 and without the consent of said King Brothers fradulently con-

own use and benefit." "The Australia was watched during the afternoon and at 3 o'clock Mr. King, accompanied by the officer with the warrant, went through the ship. Suddenly they espied Avery hiding away in the bow of the vessel in the steerage quarters. He was completely surprised and remarked that 'it was all up' with him. He stated then and there, however, that he hadn't a cent on him or in his baggage, and they 'couldn't expect to get blood out of a turnip. Despite his protestations of innocence he was escorted up Fort street afoot in the keeping of the officer. He was attired in a dark suit of clothes, white yatching cap and carried his little telescope valise. "At the station when searched his pockets gave up 80 cents in silver, a pocket wallet with cards and memorandums therein, a tobacco pouch, a flute made of bamboo stick, homemade, and morphine outfit which he begged the officers to allow him to keep. The most startling disclosure was contained in a white silk handkerchlef which was taken from an inner coat pocket. It was tied in a knot and when open, there lay five $10 gold pieces and two fives-$60 all told. When this was laid out on the counter Avery said they could put him anywhere, he didn't care.

"George D. Gear was sent for by Avery's friends and had a consultation in regard to his affairs. Later Avery was admitted ball in the sum of $300, a bond being furnished by Mr. Fuller-
